

daily DESIGN·NEWS

Architectural Digest Home Design Show 2015 Preview

Drawing on its successful first edition, with over 1200 applicants of which three very promising winners were rewarded – designer, Thomas Tait, the brand Miuniku and the collective Hood by Air – LVMH announces today the launch of the 2015 edition of the LVMH Prize for Young Fashion Designers.

The Architectural Digest Home Design Show, the premier U.S. luxury design fair, is set to run from March 19–22, 2015, at New York City's Piers 92 & 94, 55th Street and Twelfth Avenue.

The show explores the world of design through inspiring installations, high caliber programming, exciting special events, and more.

The show, open to both the design trade and consumers, has expanded this year, taking over adjacent spaces Pier 92 and Pier 94, together with DIFFA's (Design Industries Foundation Fighting AIDS) show stopping DINING BY DESIGN. Popular areas such as Furniture & Furnishings, MADE, the SHOPS, and refresh will each feature a notably larger roster of new talent in addition to returning exhibitors like Scavolini, Ligne Roset + LV Wood, Orley Shabahang, PELLE, Asher Israelow, and Calico Wallpaper.

Show highlights include:

- Exhibitions by a diverse range of 400 + brands in the luxury home market— from Fortune 500 companies to artisanal studios.
- More than a dozen new complimentary panels and talks by leading talents in 21st-century design, including a keynote presentation by Architectural Digest Editor in Chief Margaret Russell and the celebrated New York Times Design Series.
  - New international exhibitors from the Netherlands, Turkey, Italy, and France.
- MADE—a juried show-within-a-show featuring artists and designers with limited-edition, custom, and one-of-a-kind objects and furnishings—welcomes 69 new exhibitors. It will be a showcase of talent from around the country (Austin, Brooklyn, Detroit, Nashville, Providence, Seattle, and more) and around the world. An expanded Los Angeles contingent at MADE will include Eric Trine, Parachute Home, Wolfum, 100xbtr, Brendan Ravenhill, Ria Leigh, Elyse Graham, BROOK&LYN, Mimi Jung, and Lewis Mauk. Additionally, more than 30 businesses exhibiting are women-owned or-run.
  - Furniture & Furnishings is expanding its coverage of contemporary and classic furniture, rugs, lighting, textiles, smart electronics, art, and more. New and returning exhibitors include The Future Perfect, Dorya USA, Sonance, Martha Sturdy, Hubbardton Forge, Townsend Design, Valitalia, Marc Phillips Rugs, and more.